Starting from this year, I have been visiting the popular LAMICHE Dermatology, which is known for its effective treatment of various acne problems.

It has been ten days since the procedure, and the redness in my skin has significantly subsided, and overall, it has improved a lot.

I hope someone who is concerned about pores and blackheads sees this.
I used to worry about my uneven pores and blackheads around my nose, but thanks to the treatment I received at Lamiche, they are no longer noticeable.

Lamiche Dermatology is definitely the place to go.
Compared to other clinics, they have an overwhelming variety of laser types, and the director's consultations are surprisingly accurate.
